Qhin-

If it interests I've received about 3/4" of xeroxes re Souetre/Mertz/Roux. Mostly from a number of books, including in French.

I'd forgotten but there is considerable about Mertz in the book The Heroin Trail, which in the reverse of the norm is a condensation of a 30+ series of articles for which Newsday got a gold Pulitzer.

He is credited with getting as I recall a half-ton of heroin into the US by staching it in nooks and crannies of imported autos.

There should be records of the period when DeGaulle came to this hemisphere and the French wanted security help. They appear to have been concerned about him then.
